

Eddie from 16 Blocks

Let me ask you a question detective...Lieutenant, my apologies'. You're driving along in a hurricane you spot three people stranded at the side of the road. One is this old lady and she won't last much longer. Another is your best friend, who has already saved your life once before; and the third, is the women of your dreams.

Now, unfortunately, you only have room to save one. Who do you take? It's an ancient question; it's supposed to describe what kind of person you are deep down inside. And, they say your soul isn't complete until you know the answer. So who would you take?

Not interested in humoring me, huh? I'll give it a shot then. You would probably take the old lady, I mean she's not gonna make it unless you do. But I wonder? Could you leave the women of your dreams there to die? Could you turn your back on your best friend, who you owe your life too? No, no, you would take your best friend, I mean it's only fair, he saved your life. No, that's not it either. Lieutenant, I know Lieutenant, you would take the women of your dreams forget your best friend; forget that old lady, live happily ever after. So who would you take?

There is a right answer, I know it. I'd be more than happy to share it with you. All you have to do is ask?