

Flight Attendant
Season 1, Episode 2

Annie and Cassie sit in a bar, day drinking. Cassie just leaked a ton of bad info to the FBI.

Annie

You got me like day drinking. Alright, when you psychotically embraced honesty just now with the FBI, you didn't mention that you left the hotel room.

Cassie

I don't even really know if I did.

Annie

Yes but if you did, that could theoretically have been when someone else might have come in and killed him

Cassie

Yeah Ok but... if you're right about that, about the time that Alex died, that means that I was so fucked up that I got back into bed with a dead man?

Annie

It's kinda, it's kinda the only thing that explains why you're not dead too.

Cassie

Oh My God. That's just sad. Like, that's bad right? On a personal level that's just bad.

Annie

You were, you were black out drunk. That could, you know, It could've happened to anyone.

Cassie

No it couldn't have happened to anybody, this doesn't happen to anybody, ok I don't want to be this person.

Annie

If you got in bed with him after he was...

Cassie

Dead?

Annie

Yes, okay. If that is in fact a thing that happened, it's a thing that happened. You know? And it doesn't define you.

Cassie
Thank you

Annie
You're welcome.

I just—why didn't you take the fifth? I don't get it. I nodded. I know that you saw me. We had like that whole thing where I was like "I'm gonna nod" and you were like "Ok".

Cassie
Okay, Listen Can I fix this? Just if I had information that I could trade with them, or I mean I'm starting to get these memories so we could go back in there and have another conversation and we could figure this thing out

Annie
You need to simmer down. You're doing that thing where you get obsessive and you spin out.

Cassie
Annie, I have to get obsessive about this.

Annie
I'm your lawyer, I will get obsessive about this. I will figure out a strategy. You go be a flight attendant. Go home, go pack in your like your little Marie Kondo way, take your flight to...

Cassie
Rome.

Annie
Rome. There is nothing that you can do here. Do you understand me?
