

KILL BILL 2

BILL

First question:

Did you really think your life in El Paso was gonna work?

THE BRIDE

No!

But I would've had B.B.!

BILL

Don't get me wrong.

I think you would have been a wonderful mother.

But you are a killer.

All those people you killed to get to me...
...felt damn good, didn't they?

THE BRIDE

Yes.

BILL

Every single one of them?

THE BRIDE

Yes.

BILL

That was the warmup round.

Now comes the $64,000 question.

Why did you run away from me with my baby?

THE BRIDE

Do you remember the last assignment

you sent me on.

BILL
Of course.
Lisa Wong.

THE BRIDE
The morning I left, I was sick.
On the plane, I threw up.
So I started thinking:
Maybe I was pregnant.
What I didn't know
Before that strip turned blue...
...I was a woman, I was your woman.
I was a killer who killed for you.
What I didn't know...
...was that somewhere on my journey
I had been spotted.
With me in L.A., it didn't take Lisa Wong long to send an assassin of her own.
That pregnancy test result saved us both
She left me alone
And I promised to do the same.
Before that strip turned blue,
I would've jumped a motorcycle onto a speeding train.
For you.
But once that strip turned blue...
...I could no longer do any of those things.
Not anymore.
Because I was gonna be a mother.
Can you understand that?

BILL

Yes.

But why didn't you...
...tell me then, instead of now?

THE BRIDE

Once you knew, you'd claim her.

And I didn't want that.

BILL

Not your decision to make.

THE BRIDE

Yes.

But it's the right decision,
and I made it for my daughter.
She deserved to be born with a clean slate.

But with you...

...she would've been born into a world she shouldn't have.

I had to choose.

I chose her.

You know, five years ago,
if I had to make a list of impossible things that could never happen, you performing a coup de grâce on me by bustin' a cap in my crown...

...would've been right at the top of the list.

I'd have been wrong, wouldn't I?

BILL

I-I'm sorry.

Was that a question?

Of impossible things that could never happen - yes, in this instance, you would've been wrong.

THE BRIDE
Well?

BILL
When you never came back,
I naturally assumed Lisa Wong, or somebody else, had killed you.
Oh! And for the record...
...letting somebody think somebody they love is dead when they're not is quite cruel.

I mourned you for three months.
And in the third month of mourning you...
...I tracked you down.
I wasn't tryin' to track you down.
I was tryin' to track down
the fucking assholes I thought killed you.
So I find you...
...and what do I find?
Not only are you not dead...
...you're getting married to some fucking jerk.
And you're pregnant.
I overreacted.

THE BRIDE
You overreacted?
Is that your explanation.

BILL

I didn't say I was gonna explain myself.

I said I was gonna tell you the truth.

But if that's too cryptic, let's get literal.

I'm a killer.

I'm a murdering bastard.

You know that.

And there are consequences...

...to breaking the heart of a murdering bastard.

You experienced some of them.

Was my reaction really that surprising?

THE BRIDE

Yes. It was.

Could you do what you did?

Of course you could.

But I never thought you would,

or could, do that to me.

BILL

I'm really sorry, Kiddo...

...but you thought wrong.

THE BRIDE

You and I have unfinished business.

BILL

Baby... you ain't kiddin'