

LITTLE CHILDREN

BRAD

I'm Brad by, the way.

SARAH

Sarah.

BRAD

You come here a lot?

SARAH

Only for the last few weeks.

BRAD

...you know you're the first person here who's ever talked to me.

SARAH

You make them nervous.

BRAD

Right, I guess they don't see too many fathers here.

You don't have to be polite. Go ahead and ask.

SARAH

What?

BRAD

What the person who wears the pants in the family does for a living.

SARAH

Alright, what does your wife do?

BRAD

She makes documentaries.

SARAH

Oh, wow. Like Michael Moore?

BRAD

Like, PBS.

SARAH

Oh...well, I think there's no reason why men can't be primary caregivers.

BRAD

I finished law school two years ago. But I can't seem to pass the bar exam. Failed it twice now.

SARAH

Maybe you just don't want to be a lawyer.

BRAD

I'll take the test one more time. If I mess up now, I'm just going to have to find something else to do with my life.

SARAH

I couldn't help noticing your stroller. Do you have two children?

BRAD

Just Aaron. We got that at a yard sale. The extra seat comes in handy for the bear.

SARAH

Lucy refuses to be put in a stroller, or a car seat. We have to walk everywhere. It takes us half an hour to go three blocks until I carry her.

BRAD

Well, it was nice talking to you.

SARAH

Yeah, you too. - Wait, don't leave, yet.
You know what?

BRAD

What?

SARAH

The others here...you know what they call you?

BRAD

What?

SARAH

The Prom King.

BRAD

Ouch. That's awful.

SARAH

They mean it as a compliment. You're a big character in their fantasy lives.

BRAD

Wow.

SARAH
One of them bet me five dollars I wouldn't get you to follow me.

BRAD
Five bucks, huh?

SARAH
Yep.

BRAD
Could we split it fifty-fifty?

SARAH
It could be arranged.

BRAD
Alright, wht's your Instagram?

SARAH
You know what would be really funny?

BRAD
What?

SARAH
If we took off our shirts, for them to see.
I would do it with you, you wouldn't have to do it alone.

BRAD
Of course. Ok. Why not?---

SARAH
You know what would really freak them out?

BRAD
What?

SARAH
If we dropped everything.
—
I think that worked.

BRAD
Yeah I think so, too.
Well, it was nice meeting you.

SARAH
Yeah. You, too.
See you soon.