Runaway Bride

INT. IKE'S APARTMENT - NIGHT
Ike opens the door to his apartment and flicks on the lights. He crosses to hang his coat in the closet. In the closet mirror, he sees and is stunned to find: MAGGIE, sitting on the couch holding Italics, the cat.

MAGGIE
Hello, Ike.

He closes the closet and crosses to his desk.

IKE
Don't tell me. My doorman is one of your many admires... I knew I should have given him a better Christmas gift.

Maggie smiles tenuously. She's more than a little terrified.

MAGGIE
I've been making friends with your cat.
(then)
Is it okay that I'm here?

IKE
I don't have much choice in the matter now, do I? But I can't speak for Italics.
(to Cat)
Traitor!

He moves to the kitchen.

MAGGIE
I don't blame you for being mad...

Ike looks at her. Apparently the word "mad" is an understatement.

MAGGIE (cont'd)
... Or... furious.

Ike looks at her again.

MAGGIE (cont'd)
... Irate? Livid? How's that?

He starts putting cat food in a bowl. The cat leaves Maggie's side and starts to east.

IKE
Livid is good. So what is it, Maggie?
You here on business? I saw your lamps. They're terrific.

MAGGIE
It's something I've always wanted to do.

Ike leaves the kitchen, turns on the balcony lights and re-enters the living room from the balcony.

IKE
You actually could make breaking and entering into a new career.
(after opening the glass doors)
So, what are you doing here?

MAGGIE
I wanted to talk to you about why I run or ride away from things.

Ike moves away from her and sits on the steps near the balcony window, listening.

IKE
(after sitting)
Does it matter?

MAGGIE
I think so... When I was walking down the aisle? I was walking toward somebody who didn't have any idea who I really was. And it was only half the other person's fault, because I had done everything to convince him that I was exactly what he wanted. So it was good that I didn't go through with it because it would have been a lie, but you -- you knew the real me.

IKE
Yes, I did.

MAGGIE
I didn't. And you being the one at the end of the aisle didn't just fix that.

Ike takes this in. She's reaching him -- but then the defenses go back up. He turns to her.

IKE
No, I couldn't fix anything...
(as he gets up)
But I still ended up chasing a truck.

Ike moves out to the balcony. After a moment, Maggie follows him.

EXT. BALCONY/IKE'S APARTMENT - NIGHT

The balcony overlooks Central Park. The twinkling lights of the city stretch out across the beautiful night. Ike looks out at the view with his back to Maggie as she speaks.

MAGGIE
I understand why you bring up the truck. Let me explain something. The fact is, you've seen me at my worst, most embarrassing, deviously plotting, potentially but not certifiably, psychotic state. And if you liked me then, I mean, now... I can't imagine...
(crosses to him)
Benedict.

Ike has no response.

MAGGIE (cont'd)
I love eggs Benedict. I hate all the other kinds.

She hesitates.

MAGGIE (cont'd)
... I hate big weddings with everybody staring. I would like to get married on a weekday while everybody is at work. If I ride off into the sunset, I want my own horse.

IKE
Should I be writing this down?

She returns to the balcony and hands him the box.

IKE (cont'd)
What's this?

MAGGIE
These are for you.

He opens it. It's her running shoes.

IKE Used?
MAGGIE
They're mine. I'm turning in my running shoes to you.

IKE
This is getting serious.

Now she is glowing at him, shining with the full force of her.

MAGGIE
And one more thing. I know it's hard to believe there could be more. Um...

Maggie glances around and spots a DECK CHAIR, which she turns so it is facing the city lights. Then she softly says:

MAGGIE (cont'd)
If you could have a seat, please.

Ike sits. Maggie takes the box from him and puts it aside. And then she gets down on one knee.

IKE
(laughing)
Oh my God. No.

Maggie smiles up at him. Ike tips his head back and covers his eyes with his hand.

MAGGIE
No, no -- don't hide your face, this only happens once in a lifetime. It's definitely a first to me, and you're not going to want to miss it.

He smiles as he looks at Maggie.

MAGGIE (cont'd)
I love you, Homer Eisenhower Graham. Will you marry me?

Ike swallows, overwhelmed, overjoyed, and scared shitless.

IKE
Maggie, I gotta think about this a little bit.

Maggie hops cheerfully back to her feet.
MAGGIE
(cheerful)

Good.

She gets off her knees and stands.

MAGGIE (cont'd)
I was hoping you'd say that.

IKE
(laughing)
You were not.

MAGGIE
I was, because if you said "yes" right away, I wouldn't get to say this next part. And I've been practicing it.
(pulling up a chair and sitting)

Ready?

IKE
I'm listening.

MAGGIE
(tenderly)
"I guarantee that we'll have tough times. I guarantee that at some point one or both of us will want to get out. But I also guarantee that if I don't ask you to be mine, I'll regret it for the rest of my life. Because I know in my heart -- you're the only one for me".

Ike takes her hands affectionately.

IKE

Pretty good speech, Maggie.

MAGGIE
I borrowed it from this guy I know.

So?

Ike looks into Maggie's shining face and pauses. He gets up and motions with his hand for her to stay seated. He goes inside and turns on some music. The cat is sitting by the radio. He returns to the balcony and takes Maggie's hand.

IKE

Dance with me.

They start to dance a slow dance.