Amy: Okay well I hope you guys can hear me. Right. Oh fuck. Fuck, fuck, fuck. He's walking in right now. Hey!

Charlie: Hey!

Charlie: How's it goin'?

Amy: Well, you know.

Charlie: You okay.

Amy: Yeah.

Charlie: Yeah? I like this place. What's going on?

Amy: fooooooph

Waitress: So, can I get you guys something to drink?

Charlie: Ahh I'll get an iced tea please.

Amy: I will just have water. Thanks.

(Referring to his scrubs)

Charlie: What do you think? I'm starting a new job tonight. Hoping these will make a good impression.

Amy: Where?

Charlie: Elmsworth.

Amy: You're starting at Elmsworth tonight?

Charlie: Yeah, yeah, yeah. Got all my stuff in the car ready for a new start.

Amy: That's, ... wow Charlie

Waitress brings the iced tea.

Waitress: you ready to order?

Charlie: You know, I'll get a cheeseburger

Amy: Me too.

Waitress: All right.

Charlie: So, how are the girls?

Amy: They're really good.

Charlie: How's the mayor?

Amy: Yeah, she's great.

Charlie: Feeling better.

Amy: Yeah. Works been pretty awful without you there. We were like partners.

Charlie: I know.

Amy: And like the worst part is that everyone is just you know, talking shit about you all the time.

Charlie: I guess they would. Yeah.

Amy: That makes me mad, cause you're not there to defend yourself and so, you know I'm going to town on everyone and Sandra she just...

Charlie: oh god.

Amy: ...ooph she got an earful and now they'll be talkin' shit about me.

Charlie: I don't want to talk about Parkfield it's...

Amy: Why not? Is it because what they're saying is true because you know um I wouldn't care if you did those things. I mean I could understand. You could explain..

Charlie slams table with his hand.

Charlie: I didn't tell you I got permission to see my girls. Two days every second week and I was thinking that, I don't know, I was thinking maybe that you and Maya and Alex and then me and my girls we could go on a daytrip or something.

Amy: I want to talk about Parkfield. I want to talk about what you did.

Charlie: I gotta go. I'm starting a new job. I can't be late so. But I'll call soon.

Charlie exits

Amy: He's leaving. He's leaving you guys. He's walking out right now. What do you want...
